Academic Heraldry

As an occasion that is both joyful and solemn, full of import meant to be remembered, Commencement lends itself to the pageantry of an academic procession which has its roots in medieval times. The need to keep warm in the halls of learning and the close connection between the University and the church as far back as the twelfth century led to the wearing of full and colorful garments.

The gowns and hoods worn by the faculty members, candidates for graduation and platform dignitaries distinguish the institution from which the wearer was graduated, the level of the degree earned, and the field of learning. The gowns and caps usually are black. The bachelor's gown is of rather plain cut with long pointed sleeves and usually is worn without the hood. The gown for the master's degree is fuller, with long, square-ended sleeves which permit the arms to come through slits at the elbow. The doctor's gown is very full with velvet panels down the front and three velvet bars on the sleeves. The distinctive feature of academic dress is the hood which changes in size and elaborateness corresponding to the level of degree held. The inner lining, which folds out at the back and center, indicates the colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the border which comes around to the front of the neck, represents the field of learning.

The black mortar board cap is quite standard. The cap's only distinguishing feature is a gold tassel worn by the holder of the doctor's degree. At Cortland, today, those who will be graduating with honors will be noticeable by the color of the tassels on their caps—red for summa cum laude, white and red for magna cum laude and cum laude.

The Mace

The mace, in medieval times a war club, is a ceremonial staff used as a symbol of authority. The mace bearer precedes the platform party and places the mace on a special stand where it remains while the official proceedings of Commencement are under way.

Cortland's mace is a "Torch of Learning" of silver and rosewood created by silversmith John Marshall in 1968 when the College was observing its centennial. The honor of carrying the mace in academic processions at Commencement usually is given to the member of the Cortland faculty with the greatest seniority or to a retiring faculty member. Today's mace bearer is a retiring faculty member who came to Cortland in 1949, the year after the College became a part of the State University of New York. Cortland's mace was carried for the first time at the 1971 Commencement and has been carried at every Commencement and academic convocation since.

The Gonfalons

The bright banners carried in the academic procession are called gonfalons. Their use also dates back to medieval times when gonfalons were used as flags for Italian republics and in ecclesiastical processions. Cortland's three gonfalons represent the College and the College's Division of Professional Studies and Division of Arts and Sciences. This is the first Commencement at which the gonfalons are being used. The gonfalons were designed by Libby Kowalski, assistant professor of art, and Kathy Maher, a 1984 Cortland graduate. The standards were made by Bard Prentiss, chairman of the Art Department, and J. Eric Kroot, a student. Materials were provided by the Gilbert and Mary Cahill Foundation and Distinguished Teaching Professor Rozanne M. Brooks.

The Medallion and Chain

The silver medallion of office worn by President James M. Clark is of an abstract design, representative of the seven valleys of Cortland County. The medallion was presented to the College at Cortland in 1983 by Dr. Rozanne M. Brooks; Gerald N. DiGiusto, professor of art; and Dr. Gilbert Cahill, emeritus professor of history. DiGiusto created and cast the medallion which was done in plaster, and then wax, before being refined and sent to a silversmith for final casting. DiGiusto chased and finished the surface in the final stage. The neck chain was done by Linda Steward of DeRuyter. When not being worn for ceremonial occasions, the medallion and chain are kept in a burnished walnut case which was designed and finished by Bard Prentiss.

ALMA MATER

*Be lofty elm trees shaded round,
Tioughnioga near,
Our grand old Cortland
College stands,
To all of us how dear!*

*We'll sing to thee, dear
Alma Mater
Of love that shall never
die,
We'll strive for thy glory
eternal,
Keep thy stainless honor high.*

*Inspiring each son and each daughter
The noblest aims to try,
All thy fame and thy spirit,
Thy might be ours
As the swift years hurry
by.*
